

FRANCE 3 SET TO SOAR WITH STORM HAWKS

- Nerd Corps Entertainment adds a key terrestrial to its growing roster of broadcast partners

Vancouver, Canada (February 20, 2007) – French public broadcaster France 3 will send its kids block to new heights of adventure and comedy this year with the addition of Storm Hawks. The 3-D animated series, targeted at six- to 11-year-olds, is scheduled to launch fall 2007.

“We’re thrilled to be able to add Storm Hawks to our strong kids line up. It features a great mix of comedy and action, coupled with a fantastic look,” says Julien Borde, Head of Kids Programming at France 3. “We’re convinced it will have no trouble finding an enthusiastic fan base in France.”

“We’re very excited to have signed on such a strong terrestrial partner,” says Nerd Corps CEO and Supreme Commander Ace Fipke. “And confident we couldn’t have found a better home for Storm Hawks than France 3.”

“Adding the reach and strength of France 3 to our already strong positioning on Cartoon Network puts Storm Hawks in an incredible spot to reach and resonate with kids across the country,” adds Nerd Corps EI Presidente Ken Faier. “France is a key territory for us, and the French TV landscape is a highly competitive one. You want to make sure you have a partner that will give your show the best possible positioning it could have. “

A total of 52 exciting half-hour episodes is currently in production by Nerd Corps Entertainment, one of Canada’s leading animation studios. The series, which is produced in association with Canadian broadcaster YTV, was created by Fipke.

Storm Hawks is set in the fantastical world of Atmos, squadrons of high-flying Sky Knights battle to protect their air turf. In the wastelands below, five mismatched teens and their odd little animal sidekick have found the wreckage of legendary sky knight squadron known as The Storm Hawks. Now, armed with transforming flying motorcycles, these punks are dog-fighting some of the nastiest villains to ever hit the skies—determined to throw a wrench into the plans of an evil empire. Too young for fear (or a proper sky knight's license), the new Storm Hawks are burning rubber and cracking rudders on a tailspin adventure where the sky is never the limit!
